A Queer Monument. Standing in Mount Hope cemetery at Logansport, Ind., is one of the queerest nests ever erected to the memory of any individual. It is over the grave of William H. Reighter. The states part of the monument represents Mr. Reighter as he was attired when stricken with beart disease. Mr. hter was a ditch contractor and prominent in his locality. It was on a rainy day that death came, and he was well prepared for the weather. He was wearing a broad brimmed hat, a macktosh over his suit of clothes and his sers legs were in his rubber boots. The members of the family, wishing to member him as he looked when last he bade them goodby, employed a man bout the same size and build as Mr. ster to have his photograph taken in the clothes last worn by the ded, and when he had carried out the the they replaced the head on the graph with the head of a likeness of Mr. Reighter. This picture was sent to a sculptor in Italy, with the request that a life sized statue be made from it in Italian marble. The statue is true

Where Drums Came From.

Drums are probably an eastern idea introduced by the Crusaders into Europe. They are frequently mentioned in the accounts of the first crusade. When Edward III. of England and his made their triumphal entry into Calais in 1347, "tambours" or drums were among the instruments which were played in their honor. Another of these was called a "nacaire" or ketbedrum, taken, together with its name, from the Arabs. The poet Chaucer also mentions this instrument in his sescription of the tournament in "The Knight's Tale."

The king generally kept a troop of these bandsmen or minstrels in his employ, and we read that Edward II. on one occasion gave a sum of 60 shillings to Roger, the trumpeter; Janino, the makerer, and others for their performances. Another minstrel was called the "cheveretter," or player on the bag-

The Saide of Hannibal. Defeated at Zama, Hannibal fled to the cost to avoid falling into the hands of the Romans and found temporary security in the dominions of Mithridates. He incited this monarch to engage in a Roman war, and, his advice as to its conduct being rejected, the war proved unsuccessful, and Mithridates was required as one of the conditions of peace to deliver up Hannibal to his enemies, the Romans. The unfortunate Carthaginian heard of his approaching fate, swallowed the poison which for years he had carried about his person and expired just as the envers arrived to take him in charge.

The Way She Worked It. "Of course you can't take a hint," the said, looking at him thoughtfully. He couldn't, and she knew it, and that's why she said it. It wouldn't have been necessary otherwise. "Of course," he replied. "Have you been hinting at anything?" "Oh, dear, no," she answered, with mapicious haste. "I was just thinking.

Thinking of what?" "Why, suppose — you suppose, you know—that I was a hint." After pendering the matter deeply for several minutes he decided to take her.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected

heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-
